As a Resource Person we had the privilege to listen from a renowned Professor from Bangladesh, Prof. Systanando Kumar Saha. He is an Assistant Professor of Principal Abul Hossen College,Chalan Beel,Bangladesh. Prof. Systanando Kumar Saha is an Assistant Professor in English Literature and Language. The members were Prof. Sweety Roy Rajguru, Prof. Sarbani Bera, Satabdi Roy, and Medha Misra.

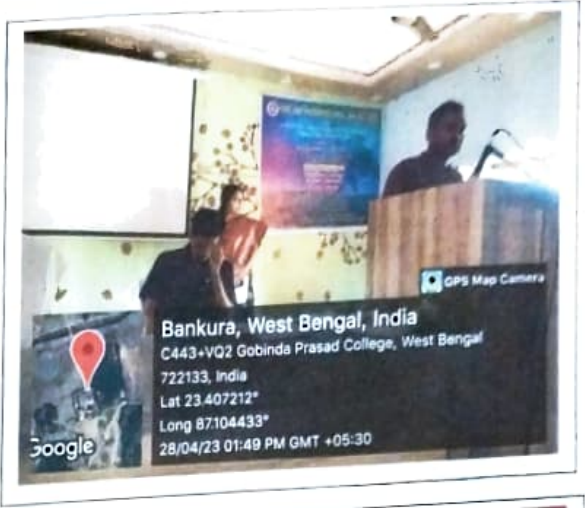

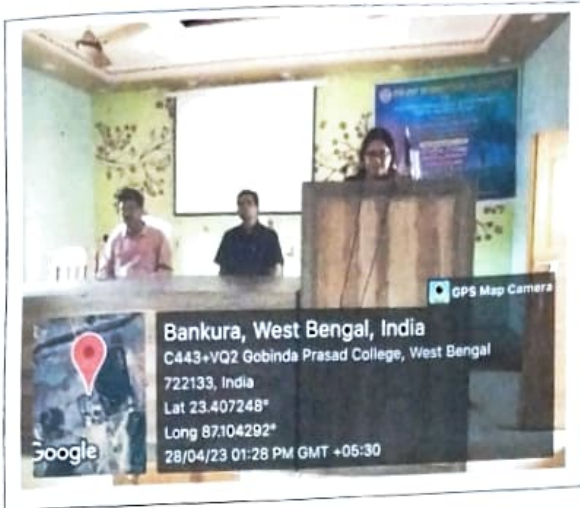

Purpose of the Seminar:

The purpose of the Seminar was to bring together Scholar from others Universities and colleges to promote discussion on P.B. Shelley and his Poetry, to compare alternative study design for data collection, to share information and to disseminate and encourage the use of existing data sources.

Outcome:

The themes discussed were: The West Wind's power and beauty, strong as it is, is at risk by hostile and forces. Shelley views the destructive power of the West Wind as a metaphorical parallel for the beauty of his poetry. The destructive power of the West Wind is but a part of a larger cycle in which what seems like death is merely a necessary stage in the process of regeneration that perpetuates life itself. Approximately 60 students attended the seminar. Seminar ended very successfully. Mr. Saha delivered his valuable lecture enthusiastically. And he thanked us for organizing this seminar. We received many positive responses from the audiences.
